Trial Court Case # 4FA-18-02677CI

Loren Larson Jr. represents himself in this appeal. He has filed a motion asking the Court to supplement the appellate record with portions of the transcript from his criminal trial (he has attached these portions to his motion). The State belatedly opposes Mr. Larson's request. The State requests this Court accept the State's late-filed opposition, and that the Court deny Mr. Larson's request on the ground that the material Mr. Larson wants to add to the appellate record was not presented to the trial court.

But Mr. Larson's motion makes it clear that before his action in the superior court was dismissed, he notified the superior court that he was attempting to supplement a motion with this material. And, according to Mr. Larson, he was prevented from timely doing so due to the actions of the Department of Corrections. Consequently, before Mr. Larson was able to file the material in the superior court, that court dismissed his action.

Under these circumstances, it appears that the material Mr. Larson was attempting to file in the superior court before his action was dismissed may be relevant to his current appeal, and it would not be improper to add the material to the appellate record.

Larson v. State - p. 2
File No. A-13449
6/18/19

Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED:

1. The State's motion that the Court accept its late-filed opposition is GRANTED.

2. Mr. Larson's request to supplement the record with the material Mr. Larson has attached to his motion is GRANTED. The Appellate Court Records Office shall add this material to the appellate record.

Should it become clear as this appeal progresses that this material should not have been added to the appellate record, then the State may move for an appropriate remedy.
